Biography

Kiran Brar is an associate in our insurance defence and civil litigation groups. Kiran has built her practice on a foundation of efficiency, advocacy, and good results. She has appeared on behalf of her clients in matters before the Provincial Court of British Columbia, as well as the Supreme Court of British Columbia. Kiran practices with a client-centred approach that values open communication and professionalism.

Kiran has conducted defences, and assisted senior counsel in conducting defences, in insurance defence matters involving contentious liability issues; catastrophic injuries; and complex pecuniary damages claims. She has successfully advocated for such defences at mediation and court.

Kiran has been with Stevens Virgin since 2016. Prior to joining Stevens Virgin, she articled at a large regional firm in Vancouver where she was exposed to a variety of different practice areas. While attending law school, Kiran was the recipient of numerous awards for her academic achievement including the Law Foundation Award and the South Asian Bar Association Scholarship.

Kiran has volunteered with a number of organizations. She was a student clinician with the Law Students' Legal Advice Program, providing free legal services to low-income clients at bi-monthly clinics. She was also a peer tutor, offering study advice in contracts, real property, and constitutional law to first year law students.
